BRIGHT, BRIEF AND BREEZY

Gems of Truth

—FROM MANY MINDS.

Man does not live by bread alone, but by faith, by admiration, by sympathy.

Of all there can be no less reason—
—that than that her voice is the harmony of the world.

It is the soul which creates to itself
a body; the idea which makes to itself a habitation.

It is better to say, "This one thing I do," than to say, "These forty things
I doable."

Duties without duty is a true without fruits; duty without a doctrine is a true without roots.

It is their own hearts the earnest of the hope
Which made them great, the good will ever find.

We are very apt to measure ourselves by our aspirations instead of our performance. But in truth the conduct of our lives is the only proof of the veracity of our hearts.

Nothing can be more common,
or more unworthy of a rational being,
than to spend life in life's limitations because what we are or ought to be believed to be true has now proved to be false.

He who, when goodness is impressive,
is put before him, exhibits an instinctive loyalty to it, starts forward to take its side, trusts himself to it, such a man has faith, and the root of the matter is in such a man.

A LOST SOUL.

On a Sunday afternoon in a Salvation Army meeting, a gentleman with pale face and trembling voice, rose to his feet requesting a word. The opportunity was placed at his disposal, and he said about as follows: "Dear friends, I don't feel worthy, or in any way fit to speak in a meeting like this. I have no hope either that anything I can say or do will help myself personally at all. If I felt there was any hope for me I would willingly go to 150 penitentiforms if necessary to find salvation.

I am a Lost Soul.

The only hope I have in rising is that possibly a word from me may hinder some other souls from getting where I now am. Rather than help any one to get where I am, I would be willing to offer anything, to be ridiculed with bullets, or to meet death in the worst way.

I Loved and Served God

for some time, but He has left me, I am
a lost soul."

He was pleaded with, special prayer was offered for him, but all to no avail.
The officers and soldiers prayed again for him between the afternoon and night meetings, and in the night meeting some prayed, pleaded, warned, wooed, but although he came to the penitenti-form,
and the pleading went on till midnight,
his melancholy plea still was, "I am a lost soul."

Backslider, take warning, and be reconciled to God while His Spirit is striving with you. J.E.M.

If you know you are pardoned, then have done with the past; don't worry over its failures or delight in its memories, but take each day, with its duties and opportunities as it comes, and trusting in God, act.

A Backslider's Wail.

"I KNOW THAT I AM A BACK-
SLIDER: IT IS NOT WITH ME
NOW AS IT ONCE WAS. BUT I HAVE TRIED AND TRIED IN VAIN
TO GET BACK WHAT I ONCE EN-JOYED, AND TO LIVE AS I ONCE LIVED." MY DEAR FRIEND, YOU HAVE NOT TRIED IN THE RIGHT WAY. TRY YOUR LORD'S WAY.
TAKE HIS COUNCIL, OBEY HIS COMMANDS, AND YOU SHALL NOT ONLY GET BACK ALL YOU HAVE LOST, BUT AN ABUNDANT
INCREASE OF PEACE AND POW-ER. REPENT, AND DO YOUR FIRST WORKS."—Mrs. Booth.

Christ Our Sure Refuge.

A frightened lark was once pursued by a hawk. Round and round in narrowing circles the scared bird flew, till it seemed as if its feet would soon put its beak into its breast. A gentleman, standing under the birds, feeling a sympathetic interest in the chase, opened the folds of his coat and by soothing tones and gesture, wooed the weak, frightened lark, till it sank, panting, to his breast, safely sheltered from its ravenous foe. Its natural timidity was overcome by a greater fear, and thus its peril and powerlessness led it to come to a sure refuge. The tempted believers will likewise seek the everlasting arms and say, "Let me hide myself in Thee."
—A Christian Heart.

Incidents of an F.O.'s Life.

A Salvation Army officer's life is made up of many incidents, some sad, some humorous, and some very interesting.
The following two came to my notice
recently.

While I was selling the Christmas number of the War Cry from door to door, one lady, when opening and seeing who was there, shot it quickly in my face.
I felt that as sure you, but not so much because I had no one to say it to, and went on to the next door.

I really had forgotten all about it,
when just a month after I was accosted on the street by the same lady, who said, "Captain, I want to beg your pardon for the way I treated you when you came with the Cry; you took it so calm and instead of it hurting you, it rebounded and hurt myself; please forgive me,
and from now I would like you to visit me. Call in to-morrow and see my old father, he is very sick."

I assured her of my forgiveness and prayed that God will help her to feel the same toward her Maker.

It's a good and noble thing to remember the good old adage: "Do unto others as you would wish them to do to you."

A young lad came to the quarters for me to go to the country to see a sick man. I went and found him in a very helpless condition, weak in body and mind and his soul not right with God.
He told me of a terrible vision of Hell which he had passed through while ly-sick; the description was most awful, and he longed to know Jesus and feel the assurance of God's favor. I read to him numerous passages of God's Word, sang a few choruses and prayed. Then he asked me to read about when people die and after death, and a portion which I thought suitable was Revelations xxi
v. 3-4. He at once took hold of God, and another soul was born into the kingdom. His dear wife wept for joy, and the angels had great rejoicing. Praise God for a chance of helping a soul to the cross.

Sinners do without God in life and want Him when they come to die. This is very unreasonable and contrary to all principles. The most joy comes through seeking God and serving Him in health and strength. There's no cowardice about an action of that kind.—G. P. T.

A SIEGE RHYME.

"Storm the forts of darkness, bring them down,
Army soon aggressive and its strength
can crown
Diamonds rough, with beauty; when Jesus they behold,
Yea, new life and power, instead of mean things old.

Comrades, up and doing, with sleeves
rolled up begin,
March, pray, sing, elocute, but bring the wanderers in,
Though methods old peculiar, yet God
uses foolish things
To bring to naught the mighty, to prize
even kings.

Tramp around yet seven times seventy,
the walls will tumble down;
Jesus, Lord, King victorious, He will every effort crown.
And the starry setting that awaits us, in our crown of gold,
Shall be worth each weary headache,
each cross and effort bold.

Oh, the rapture that awaits us, when we hear Him say, "Well done!"
In the Siege of nineteen-nought-one you did work the Gospel gun,
And the roar of strife undaunted even your poor, trembling heart,
Here's a crown of joy rejoicing, in My Kingdom take a part."

John Wolfe, J. R. S.-M.

Now.

RISE! for the day is passing,
And you still lie dreaming on;
The others have buckled their armor,
And forth to the fights are gone;
A place in the ranks awaits you,
Each man has some part to play;
The past and the future are nothing,
In the face of the stern To-day.

Rise from your dreams of the future—
Of gaining some hard-fought field;
Of storming some airy fortress,
Or bidding some giant yield!
Your future has deeds of glory,
Of honor (God grant it may!)
But your arm will never be stronger,
Or the need so great as To-day.

Rise! for the day is passing;
The low sound you scarcely hear
Is the enemy marching to battle—
Arise! for the foe is here!
Stay not to sharpen your weapons
Or the hour will strike at last,
When, from dreams of a coming battle,
You may wake to find it past.

Real Poverty.

The world has ceased to laugh at the lack of advantages since Christian teaching has roused its sympathies. Once the poor man was thought ridiculous, and his shifts to conceal his poverty were held up to the merriment of the properous. It marks growth in wisdom that the butt of the world's laughter now is the rich man who cannot use his wealth with dignity and fitness, who buys his books by the square foot, and orders a "capacity" for his stupid son. As Lord Halifax told his daughter, "There is more money given to be laughed at than for any one thing in the world, though the purchasers do not think so."
Perhaps a farther advance will show us that many a rich man also is a fit object of our pity, as being poor in a profounder sense than the man who lacks money;
only. Poverty of understanding, of imagination, and of sympathy, is a more pitiable thing than poverty of the purse.

The Wrong Place.

A local preacher tells of this amusing experience in the south, where he formerly had a parish. Upon one occasion when he had become unusually fervent, his eloquent periods were frequently interrupted by joyful exclamations from an old colored mammy in the gallery, who shouted: "Hallelujah! Praise de Lord, oh, ma soul!"
The interruptions became so annoying that the sexton finally approached the old woman and asked what was the trouble.
"Oh, Ah's so happy Ah could fly! Ah's gittin' 'ligion snash!" was the joyful about.
"Hush!" said the grave sexton. "This is no place for that. Don't you know you're in a church?"

Repentance leads upward, remorse downward.

THE ISLE OF LILIES

SHORT BITS ABOUT BERMUDA.

By G. MILLER, Adj.

"The Bermuda Islands were first discovered in 1513, by a Spanish vessel, called La Garza. It does not appear that the Spaniards made any attempt to settle there, although Philip II. granted them to one Ferdinand Canoeo, a Portuguese, who never improved the gift beyond taking possession by the form of landing in 1543, and carving on a prominent cliff on the southern shore the initials of his name and the year, to which, in conformity with the practical zeal of the times, he superadded a cross to protect his acquisition from the encroachments of roaming heretics and the devil.

How far Satan has been kept off by them is uncertain, but the dreaded heretics have invaded the sanctity of the spot, and have had the bad taste to scribble their names and initials in every variety of character about, until it's almost impossible to distinguish Canoeo's name from those of the Browns and Sells.

These islands were first introduced to the notice of the English by a dreadful shipwreck, in 1591.

It was owing to a tempest that Bermuda again came under the view of the English, in 1607. An expedition of nine ships and 500 men was sent out, commanded by Sir Thomas Gates, Sir George Somers, and Capt. Newport. They were overtaken by a frightful tempest, the fall of a West India hurricane, and it was with great difficulty the Islands were reached.

Great Britain never exhibited to better advantage the far-sighted policy which has made her mistress of the seas than when she made Bermuda the central point of rendezvous for her cruising North Atlantic Squadron, as well as a coaling station. Its geographical position makes its retention of the utmost importance to the Imperial Government, and its defences are kept thoroughly up to date.

Ireland Island

is in every respect a British fortification. Armaments, warships, torpedo gunboats, with all the powers of war, are there concentrated. Moats, drawbridges, and lines of fortifications meet the eye everywhere before reaching the dockyard itself. The largest floating dock in the world is located there, the towing of which across the Atlantic, in 1892, was a remarkable event. It required a passage of thirty-five days.

Bermuda is situated some 700 miles from the main land and south of the gulf stream. Its conditions are such that the cold weather of the north never prevails, and ice or snow are things unknown. During the latter part of February and early March the islands are liable to feel the east wind, bringing with it a low temperature; but even then it is not actually cold.

Bermuda as a Health Resort.

especially during the winter, is unequalled, but it is not a place for consumptives, owing to the great moisture of the air; in fact, during part of the year vegetation is sustained by heavy dews.

THE WATER SUPPLY of the islands, for all purposes, is rain water, for the preservation of which, tanks, lined with cement, are attached to every house.

THE HOUSES are dry and comfortable, and are all built of soft stone, cut in numerous quarries. This stone is soft enough to admit of saw cutting, but it hardens on exposure. The houses are all white-washed, with roofs of same color, and present a cool and picturesque appearance, surrounded, as they are, by flowers, ornamental trees, and shrubs.

THE ROADS, constructed out of coquina, are white, and of a consistency not unlike concrete or asphalt. Bermuda is like a great park—flowers in abundance wherever you go. A drive through the country is delightful.

Adj. Miller Leading an Open-Air on Salvation Hill.

THE POPULATION of the Bermudas, according to the last census, was 15,013, of which total there are 5,630 whites and 9,383 colored. The colored population are, as a whole, highly intelligent and well educated and well behaved. A great number of the white people are men from H. M. service. The business men, both white and colored, are right up to date.

the year 1834. Some of the old slaves are still alive.

THERE ARE MANY CHURCHES. The islands comprise nine parishes, with an Episcopal Church in each. There is also a Roman Catholic Church in Hamilton. Christ Church, in Warwick, is said to be the oldest Presbyterian Church in the British Colonies. In view from this body; but that they have and are doing good we know from personal observation."—(From Bushnell's Hand-Book.)

PLACES OF SCENERY are many, such as the Devil's Hole, Fairy Land, Joyce's Cove, Natural Arch, etc. The raging water during a storm is a scene that baffles description—the pen cannot describe it, it must be seen.

Along the south shore wild scenes of effects are produced by the masses of broken and fallen rocks. When a heavy ocean swell sets in from the south, the long rollers break on the rock-bound shore, sending clouds of spray glistening upwards forming rainbows in the sunlight.

THE PRINCIPAL PRODUCTS of the land now are onions, potatoes, arrowroot, lilies, melons, bananas and plantains, cassava, corn and sundry other fruits and vegetables.

NATIVE BIRDS.—Wander where you will, through the cedar groves or along the winding roads, the air rings with melody of the native birds. I am informed that 186 species have been noticed here, but most of them are birds of passage, resting or are blown here on their migratory flight.

FISH.—There is probably no part of the globe in which a greater variety, or more excellent quality, of fish abound than in the waters bordering the shores of Bermuda. It is said that 168 varieties have been observed here. The most conspicuous for beauty is the angle fish.

WHALES.—There are also whales seen occasionally off the coast. A whaling vessel landed 400 barrels of whale oil on the Hamilton wharf the other day. They had only been to sea for a few months.

TREES.—There is a great variety of trees. Some of the most beautiful are the rubber, pride of India, and the poinciana. The most unusual of all the trees is the cedar, or more properly speaking, the juniper. There are various palms. One of the most beautiful sights in Bermuda in the way of trees is the row of cabbage palms on the harbor road leading east from Hamilton, the stems of which rise like gigantic columns to a height of some sixty feet, and terminate in a graceful feather-like plume. They are locally referred to as the royal palms. I never look upon the palms but what I'm reminded of Psalm xcii. 12, "The righteous shall flourish like the palm tree." The palm (1) grows upright, tall, and straight; (2) grows slowly but surely; (3) draught effects it very little; (4) it bears fruit; (5) it does not depend on surface moisture or outward circumstances; (6) it's the king of trees in the vegetable world. So is the Christian king among men.

saved years ago in the S. A., and a few months ago was promoted to glory, was among the number. At the time of the yellow fever epidemic, in the summer of 1853, there were no less than 1,000 convicts on the islands, 152 of whom succumbed to the disease.

DEATH AND THE GRAVE.—A man may be about the streets one day and in his grave the next in Bermuda. For they bury their dead very quickly. After life is extinct a corpse is not kept two or three days, as they usually are in Canada and other places.

HURRICANES.—The islands have had some frightful wind-storms and hurricanes. Your humble servant will never forget the one on Sept. 12th, 1853. The cracking of trees and falling of buildings and the roaring of the sea was frightful.

BELIOUS STORMS.—There is no doubt more religious liberty in Bermuda now than ever before.

Many years ago a number of Quakers emigrated to the colony in the hope of enjoying religious toleration, but they were persecuted by fines, imprisonments, and banishment for refusing to attend divine service in the Parish Churches, and finally the company prohibited their landing by a general order.

METHODIST IN PRISON.—This people have had their troubles. In the early days John Stephenson, a Methodist Missionary, was in the old St. George's jail for six months. For many years visitors could read on the cedar floor of the room an inscription cut by the prisoner:

"John Stephenson, Methodist Missionary, was imprisoned in this jail six months, and fined £50, for preaching the Gospel of Jesus Christ to African blacks and captive negroes. St. George's, Bermuda, June, 1801."

In spite of this persecution they have gone on, and now rank among the leading churches of the island.

The Salvation Army.

THE GOOD OLD ARMY FLAG was unfurled in Bermuda January 12th 1896; since then 1602 souls have professed to find salvation. A good number are now scattered throughout the world; many on the South African battlefield; some at the Cape; some in India, England and St. Helena, West Indies, Canada, and many in America and other parts of the world. Thank God for the many blessings received under the good old Army flag in Bermuda. A number have gone into the field; two into the West Indies; three to U. S. A., and some to Canada; we have still a good fighting force of nearly 300 soldiers, with a staff of 50 local officers and 30 laymen. There is also a good junior work. We have corps at Hamilton, St. Georges, Somerset and Southampton. We have an average indoor attendance of over 2000 weekly. We have also a number of good Auxiliary members, such as Julian Trott, (Uncle); this friend is special Army reporter for the local papers. Mr. E. Mottor was and still is a true friend and has always been a good help to the officers. Mr. White is another staunch Auxiliary; his home has always been open to our officers. Mr. Francis and Mr. L. Simmons have also been faithful friends of the Army. We have also three Auxiliaries at Southampton, Mr. Munro, Mrs. Outerbridge and Miss Messie. We have a host of other good friends who help the Army by their prayers and with their money.

No Jail Needed.

Of late there has been much praise and credit given to the Army for the decrease of crime. A report appeared in the Colonist, Aug. 15th, of a debate in the Legislative Assembly on the closing of St. George's Gaol. In describing the causes which have tended to bring about the decrease in crime which rendered a gaol unnecessary, the work of the Salvation Army was mentioned as an important factor. At the time of the debate St. George's gaol was empty; one member thought it could be attributed to the work of the Army, which had done a great deal more good in the country than is imagined. He thought it would be a good idea to subsidize the Army to a greater extent. The gaol might be given them for a barracks. Another member agreed heartily with the first speaker. If the statement that the Salvation Army has helped to empty the gaol and to reduce crime is correct, they should be given a grant to aid them in their usefulness. The Attorney-General agreed with the remarks of the speakers. He thought the idea of converting the gaol into Salvation Army barracks was worthy of serious consideration.

PRACTICAL SYMPATHY.—The Army has the practical sympathy of the people. One thousand six hundred and one dollars were raised during our two last Self-Denial efforts, which was taken up within a year's time. Our own dear soldiers give cheerfully of their means to support the work. They have great love and respect for their officers; rain or shine, your humble servant has been able to draw full salary every week. The officers have never wanted for any good thing and I hope they never will.

The Military and Naval League.

MILITARY MEN.—There has been much good done among the military men. Many of the men in the 2nd Worcester Regiment thank God they ever came to Bermuda. One of the officers informed us before leaving for South Africa that a great change had taken place during the whole Regiment; that many of the men who drank and were forever getting into trouble, were among the best and most obedient soldiers now since they had been with the S. A. Pte. Howe, League Secretary, did a good work, and before the Regiment left there were forty League members, a proper lot, full of love to God and lost souls. After some months of hardship and temptation of the worst kind on the South African battlefield, the boys write us cheering letters, full of faith and victory.

Sergt.-Major Tatom and Old Mary.

Private Smith.

Of the West India Regiment, was enrolled as a soldier in Bermuda. His regiment was ordered to St. Helena, where he is now. There he has been made Sergeant of the Naval and Military League.

A good number of the men in the West India Regiment have got converted, and are now right in the fighting line of the S. A.

In the winter months, many of the sailor lads, off H. M. Ships, attend our meetings and many have got converted. We have some noble Leaguers among them that make things hum when they get into a meeting.

The victories and blessings of the past have been many, which we thank God for, and unitedly we march on to see greater things in the future.

Band-Sergt. Simmons, Hamilton, Bermuda.

"If you want to hear something charming, come to Bermuda and hear the Simmons family sing."
—Adjt. Miller.

LIGHT-HOUSES.—Bermuda has two beautiful light-houses, one on St. David's Island, while the other is situated on the summit of Gibb's Hill, the highest point of land in the western portion of the Bermudas. The commanding structure possesses one of the most powerful lights to be seen in any part of the world. The light itself stands 362 feet above the sea level. It appears over 54 seconds, and the lens being double, and being polished mirrors, and exceedingly powerful, the flash is a very brilliant one, from an elevation of only ten feet above the water it can be clearly seen at a distance of 25 miles. The tower, which is of cast iron, was constructed in London, and sent out in plates, in the year 1845. The cost, exclusive of the light machinery, was £5,500.

PAID SLOES.—Bermuda, some years ago, was unwholly burdened by the presence of the worst of criminals, transported from the mother country. They were placed on Boaz Island. The noted Dan Sloes, ex-prisoner, who got

Lieut.-Col. and Mrs. Margetts' VISIT TO BERMUDA.

By ADLT. G. MILLER.

I am afraid if the elements don't behave better than they have during the past month Bermuda will lose her good name, and Lieut.-Colonel and Mrs. Margetts will go away with the impression that instead of this being the land of sunshine it is the land of wind, storm, and rain.

It has rained almost every day since the Colonel has landed. Those who have been in Bermuda know what kind of rains we have, and how the people are not anxious to leave their homes in such weather. The weather has been a great drawback to this great campaign, but in spite of wind and rain, and all disadvantages, we can report a season of rich and lasting blessing, although we only had three days to announce the visit of the Lieut.-Colonel and Mrs. Margetts. A nice crowd came up to the public reception on Saturday night, Jan. 19th. This was a sort of thawing-out time, when our leaders got acquainted with our soldiers and friends. This is not hard to do, for Bermuda people know how to make you feel at home. The Lieut.-Colonel and Mrs. Margetts were soon in love with everything and everybody.

Sunday, Jan. 20th. Although it was raining hard, yet forty-one persons attended knee-drill. The holiness meeting, at 11 a.m., was heart-rending, and a good number sought and found the blessing of a clean heart. The afternoon and night meetings were well attended, and two souls came out for pardon.

Monday, Jan. 21st. We had a united officers', soldiers', and backsliders' meeting, and this meeting will live long in the memory of Bermuda Salvationists. Both the Lieut.-Colonel and Mrs. Margetts were at their best. The Colonel took for his subject, "Marked Men." Nineteen in number, some who had lost their first love and some who were open backsliders, came forward, and the meeting finished with a sort of glory-hallelujah blizzard.

Wednesday, Jan. 23rd. The Colonel was announced to lecture on the "Wild, Wild West," but owing to the heavy rain-storm, this was put off until Friday, Jan. 25th, when it rained again, yet a few had come, and the Lieut.-Colonel went on with his lecture, which was A. I., and was well illustrated by the howling wind storm outside.

Saturday, Sunday, and Monday at ST. GEORGE'S. The weather more furious than ever, but the comrades and friends turned out well to the meetings. Sunday morning a number came out for full salvation. At the afternoon and night meetings many were deeply convicted, but would not yield. The lecture by the Lieut.-Colonel on Monday night took well; the people were delighted with it.

Tuesday, Jan. 29th, HAMILTON. Mrs. Margetts spoke on "Eight Years' English Battles," holding her audience until 10 p.m., and notes were passed up from the people telling her to go on, they could stand it longer yet. We also had some instrumental music by the Lieut.-Colonel on his cello, which was greatly enjoyed by all.

Wednesday and Thursday, Jan. 30th and 31st. SOUTHAMPTON gave a loving welcome to our leaders, and although, as in the other places, the weather was bad, a nice crowd came up to the meetings, and the Lieut.-Colonel and Mrs. Margetts took hold as they know well how, and proved a great inspiration to all.

SOMERSET came next. The reception, Friday, Feb. 1st, was a wet one. Saturday night Mrs. Margetts spoke on her English battles. A lovely crowd had assembled, and all day Sunday large crowds attended the meetings. Seven souls found salvation.

Tuesday, Feb. 5th. The Lieut.-Colonel spoke in Tootnam Hall, WALTON. Rain and hail prevented the people from meeting out, yet we had a nice meeting with the few who attended.

Wednesday, Feb. 6th. We held our 5th Anniversary meeting. This should have taken place on Jan. 12th, but was put off owing to other specialties. The meeting went with a swing. Mr. J. Trott took the chair, and in his opening remarks said the Army would never have to take up a collection for a monument, for the platform was full of living monuments of God's saving grace. Messrs White and Francis, and other friends and comrades spoke, and the Rev. Mr. Shirley, of the A. M. E. Church, had a few words. The Lieut.-Colonel gave our anniversary address, and the meeting was one of those never-to-be-forgotten times.

Friday, Feb. 8th. The anniversary letters by most of the officers who have been stationed in Bermuda were read from the platform. The people clapped, and were right down glad to hear from their old officers. A list of the names of those who had given donations to the property fund was also read. Five hundred dollars have been raised, thanks to our comrades and friends who have given to this fund.

Your humble servant had the joy of dedicating Mildred Celestine Margetts to God and the Army. Then the Juniors sang, and we had a lot of instrumental music. Joy, in rags, sang a solo, and the people began to throw money onto the platform, and when she got through she found fifteen shillings to help on the war.

Sunday, Feb. 10th. The Lieut.-Colonel conducted his last meeting and finished the day with three souls at the Cross.

We are pleased that Mrs. Margetts will remain two weeks longer with us. May God bless our leader.

FAINT NOT.

"Blessed are ye that sow." Isa. 32. 20.

I know full well
Thy land hath grown
Much precious grain:
I do thee tell.
When days have flown,
It will come back again.

"Faire Spring is late—
The ground is cold—
The sun withhold its rays;
In patience wait
Till time has flown
Into the harvest days.

Thy work TO SOW
On many fields,
To scatter precious seed—
Wait not to know
The plentiful yield.
The Master taketh heed.

One day thou'lt view
In glad surprise,
The seed thy hand hath sown:
Some thirty grew,
Some sixty rises,
And some an hundredfold.

Father's Who sent Him. In this respect as in so many others, He stands quite apart from all other teachers, and cannot for a moment be classed with them. He came amongst us not to communicate the riches of His own thought, but to hear us the great message of grace given to Him by His Father to deliver. As you read Christ's sayings, say over and over again to your heart: The Father commanded Him to say that!

WEDNESDAY.—St. John xiii. 1-20.

"I have left you an example, that ye also should do as I have done to you." You can look at a picture and take in its message in a fraction of the time required to hear an essay or discourse. It is right you should have your doctrine of brotherly love and courtesy, but for all practical purposes the example of Jesus is the chief thing to be kept in mind. How base and contemptible is all pride and self-assertion seen to be when set in the light of the glorious lowliness of the Son of God!

WHERE HAVE YOU WATCHED JESUS?

"And sitting down they watched Him there."—Matt. xxvii. 30

By BRIGADIER SCOTT.

They had watched Him before. Watched Him with a jealous heart and spirit. Watched Him with hatred and spite. Watched for something—some word, some act, some doctrine—that they might use to make Him. And indeed they watched Him from the manger to the grave, not to love and reverence Him, not to profit by His teachings and example, not to follow Him in truth and fellowship, no. But to pull down where He built up, to root out where He planted, to destroy, to stop Him everywhere they had opportunity.

As a babe, they watched Him. Curious eyes gazed upon Him. The shepherds rejoiced, why not the wise men? Why not, indeed? True, 'twas not a mansion, nor a magnificent dwelling, but then the Son of God came there, entered His earthly mission, and redeemed His people and saved them from their sins. Rejoice, oh ye wise men, and shout for joy, ye upright in heart.

They watched Him when disputing with the doctors. Though but young, he so confounded them, made them wonder, made their ears tingle, make them feel that had One full of "grace" and truth." Full of wisdom, understanding, and able to show them things to come. They were astounded at His understanding and answers. (Luke ii. 47.)

They Watched Him to Accuse.

They watched Him as He went through the corn fields, and, true to their character, was on the alert to accuse Him of what they considered a violation of their law, a desecration of the Sabbath. (Luke vi. 1.)

They watched Him as He healed the man with the withered hand. Watched that they might accuse Him. Why didn't they shout for joy and hail His coming and work with unbounding enthusiasm? (Mark iii. 36.)

They watched Him as He sat at meat in Simon's house. They did not welcome the poor sinner who washed His feet with his tears, for their hearts were not right in the sight of God. (Luke vi. 36.)

They watched Him at the grave of Lazarus, saw His humanity and beheld His Divinity, gazed upon the loved being coming forth from the grave, and yet they could not see, could not understand; having the letter of the law but not the spirit. (John xi. 36-44.)

They watched Him in the Garden. Betrayed by a kiss, they laid hands on Him; armed with swords and staves, and led on by Judas, they watched His attitude when betrayed by His old follower; saw His agony, beheld His sorrow, and yet marched Him to death. (Matt. xxvi. 47.)

THURSDAY.—St. John xiii. 21-30.

"After the sop, then Satan entered in to him." There comes an awful moment when Satan is allowed to become an ally and faithful of what a man's heart has most persistently cherished. Christ's troubled countenance and revealing words (verse 21) were a last appeal to Judas to forsake his evil purpose; but in vain. All round us there are the forces and influences waiting to enter in to us to "finish" the good or the evil of the heart's choice. It is a common saying, that when a man marries his wife, he also marries his wife's relations. And who chooses must take with it all that belongs to it—its chief, its allies, its curse, its doom. Alas, that so many should think that they can enjoy "the pleasures of sin," and keep at a distance all its other belongings!

FRIDAY.—St. John xiii. 31-36.

The departure of Judas on his evil errand seems to have brought to Christ the relief which we experience when a question is finally settled and we are fully committed. The traitor had resolved to sit apart, and under Satan's inspiration, was determined to complete the wickedness of betraying his Lord. This matter closed, Christ is now free to think and speak of other things. For a moment He dwells upon the near and certain glory of His Cross; and then He turns to His beloved companions and friends. He is going. He tells them, where for the present they cannot follow Him. As to their behaviour under this temporary separation. He is, first of all, anxious that they should prove themselves to be His disciples, by loving one another as He has loved them. The question of questions for the human race is this, Is there any power that can destroy the sin and selfishness of the heart of man; and fill it with enduring love? If there be no such power, our future is hopeless, dark and forbidding. But Christ claims to be able to do this very thing, and His faith and trustworthiness as a Saviour are to be established in the earth by the witness of His success presented in our lives. There could be no future in a world like this for a saviour who could not teach his disciples love. How do our lives look from this standpoint?

SATURDAY.—St. John xiv. 1-14.

Throughout these chapters, let us remember that Christ is speaking in view of the temporary separation which would be brought about between His disciples and Himself by His return to His Father. They were not to let their hearts be troubled by it, but cheerfully to trust in Himself and the Father in the new situation created by His departure. They were to abide by His love, as having come away, not to attain His own relief and comfort, but to prepare a place for them, into which He would in due time Himself welcome them. As it was His Father's house into which He would receive them, He was particularly careful to explain that the Father was altogether as Himself, and that having seen Him they had seen the Father. How happy and bright Jesus wants all our thoughts of the future to be.

TO CANDIDATES.

"And the word of the Lord came unto Jonah the second time, saying, Arise, go unto Nineveh."—Jonah iii. 1. Who are the Ninevehs of this world, the people who are disobeying the voice of the Lord, the thought came to me that perhaps they, like Jonah, think it possible to flee from the presence of God, or if they harden their hearts "a little" for a "short time" God's will respecting them will change.

When I was a Salvationist at — while visiting one afternoon, I met a lady who, at one time, had been favored by the Lord with a commission of enlistment in the Army, but choosing the favor of men rather than the smile and favor of Jesus, disobeyed, hoping, of course, that the Lord's will would change, and so allow her to please herself at the same time please God. But with her, as with Jonah, God's will did not change, and consequently she wandered away, and was, by her companions and loved ones, cast into a sea of trouble. She was dissatisfied, I pleaded with her to repent and give God her heart, which I am happy to say she did, and God wonderfully blessed and helped her, and she became a real good soldier. But, along with a good soldier, her life, at times, was and when she remembered the lost opportunities of the few years mispent. She requested me to warn every Candidate to obey the will of God, and that without hesitancy.

Now, my dear comrade, if you are trying to get away from the voice of the Lord, let me tell you it is impossible; and, moreover, if you wish to save yourself from a life of unhappiness, like the one I mention, obey God, and that promptly. As it was with Jonah, so it will be with you. God's will will never change.—H. A.

SUNDAY.—St. John xii. 12-19.

Notice especially verses 17, 18, which again bring to the widespread impression made by the raising of Lazarus. That amazing miracle had won for Christ a sort of attachment on the part of many which disposed them to greet Him with their hosannas as He entered Jerusalem. But it was an utterly superficial feeling, and a few days later they were crying "Crucify Him! crucify Him!" Not by His miracles, but by His Cross, Christ eternally conquers these hearts of ours for Himself. How different it would have all turned out if that shouting multitude had been made up, not of mere witnesses of the raising of Lazarus, but of those who had been taught to say, "Who loves Me, and lays Himself for me." Beware of superficial attachments to Christ! Keep your hearts ever towards the Crucified, and the eternal reality of the Cross will penetrate and subdue your being.

MONDAY.—St. John xii. 20-26.

"If any man serve Me, let him follow Me." "Multitudes are trying to serve Christ without following Him. They follow their own preferences. They follow a fictitious Christ. When Christ goes up a mountain they go round the base of it, and lose the traces of the leader." By His word and by His example Christ here teaches that to follow Him means to go the way of the secret into the ground to die. The way of our own inclination, you will notice if you watch your own heart with a little care, is ever towards saving and enriching our "life in this world." But the little grain of wheat cannot possibly pass into the life of abundant fruitfulness without forsaking the unshown condition. The great mark and act of following Christ is just this—that day by day, and hour by hour, you are graciously enabled to deny self's leadership, and choose the will of God.

TUESDAY.—St. John xiii. 37-50.

Notice what dignity and authority Christ claims for His "sayings." "I speak not from Myself; but the Father which sent Me, He hath given Me a commandment, what I should say, and what I should speak." We sometimes hear shallow and irrelevant talk about Christ's "genius" as a religious teacher! Yet again and again He most earnestly assures us that His teaching was not His, but His

They Watched Him Die!

Led to Calvary, bearing His cross, they prepared for His death on the cross, and with the Victim upon it, allowed it to drop in the hole prepared for it. Spiked His hands and feet, pierced His side, gave Him vinegar to drink, and "saw" when they watched Him there. (Matt. xxvii. 36.)

They had watched Him in life, now they watch Him in death. Well might the Centurion say, "Truly this was the Son of God." What they thought was a defeat was a glorious triumph. Well might the apostle say, "Oh death, where is thy sting? O grave, where is thy victory?"

They watched Him suffer, saw His bruised body, heard His cry, "It is finished," beheld His agony, and yet, eviled Him, Thine, the heart is desperately wicked. Hands and feet are only servants to carry out the wicked devices of the heart.

Yes, my beloved comrades, let me say a word:

Have You Watched Him THERE?

You have listened to the sermon on the Mount, sailed over the Galilean Sea, visited the home of Mary and Martha at Bethany, gone to the Tomb of Silence with the blind man, seen the great crowd of men and women fed by the Great Teacher, yet have you watched Him THERE?

As a Man, and as the Son of God, you have followed Him on land and sea, witnessed by faith the cleansing of the leper, the raising of the dead, the giving of sight to the blind, and health to the sick, and the "manna" of His day. Seen His meekness, gentleness, love, courage, and heard Him say, "I am the Way, the Truth, and the Life." (John xiv. 6.)

You have visited the Garden of Gethsemane, heard Him say, "My sweat is exceeding sorrowful, even unto death." Watched the crowd take Him. Seen Him led to the judgment, seen poor Peter follow afar off, witnessed the trial, seen the "mocking" bloodied crowd cry for His death until your very soul has been filled with righteous indignation, and yet, my dear comrades, have you beheld Him THERE?

Mr. A.—I must confess this conversation has changed my views regarding the Army, and aroused an interest in its development I never felt before.

SIEGE ORDERS OF THE WEEK

THE TRUMP CARDS OF HELL.

(To our frontispiece.)

Man trusts a great deal to chance in life. Few make an intelligent plan for the future. Many are dissatisfied with present contentment. "Eat, and drink, and be merry," is their motto. The devil has little difficulty to beat them in the game of life.

Others are not so easily drugged. Their intelligence reasons things out and sees dangers. The devil tries to divert ambition into worldly channels. "What a grand thing it is to have the applause of man!" "Win money, and you will be all-powerful," catches another, and so the lowest trump card of evil, "the world," wins the majority of souls as easy prey.

The body is an intelligent servant, but a bad master of the soul. Once its latent desires and passions are awakened, or evil habits and appetites have been acquired, it becomes a mighty giant, grappling with the spiritual man and throwing him, if he is unaided by Divine grace to the earth, finally killing his soul. Many a man makes his body the grave of his soul.

The devil, under many disguises, approaches the soul which has conquered both the world and the flesh. The temptations of the spirit are many and numerous. They are stronger than those of the world and the flesh. They appeal to the greatest in man, and tempt it in so many subtle ways that only the closest walk with God can defeat the ends of hell.

To those who have triumphed over all other temptations, the devil will finally appear as an angel of light. He wears the robe of holiness, and he is a man and woman whom God raised from the lowest place to a high position. In His battle-field have fallen to this last temptation through neglected prayer, when setting their work above God.

"But thanks be to God Who giveth us the victory." Jesus Christ was subjected, in the desert, to the three kinds of temptation, and defeated hell, that none of His need be losers in the fight against the cunning devices of hell.

Major Collier at Lisgar Street.

Major and Mrs. Collier, with Staff-Capt. Manton, conducted the Siege meetings at Lisgar St. on Sunday last. The memorial service of Bro. Logan at night was impressive. Bro. Logan was suddenly promoted to Glory while on his way to the meeting on Thursday, 21st inst.

Encouraging features of the week-end were large crowds. Splendid meetings and two for salvation. Glory be to God!

Adj. and Mrs. Attwell at Dovercourt.

The services of Adj. Attwell, who did the Siege Sunday at Dovercourt, were much appreciated. The cold weather interfered with the crowds somewhat, but the presence of the Lord was felt. Mrs. Attwell ably assisted at night. Two came forward during the day, one for a clean heart and one for pardon.—J. A.

Ensign Easton Leads at Brampton

Three marches, one open-air, four meetings in the barracks, and one jail meeting constituted Brampton's week-end program. Ensign Easton was in charge all day, and at 10:30 p.m. our comrades rejoiced over two captures.—A. W. Mc.

Looking continually unto Jesus is a great deal easier than struggling with sin daily in the endeavor to cut off one sin at a time.

SOUL-SAVING.

Two Weeks' Revival.

The two weeks following the Reconciliation Campaign is to be set apart for the promotion of an old-time revival during which it is earnestly hoped that every corps will have the joy of witnessing a host of conversions from the ranks of—

The drunkard.

The profligate.

The careless sinner.

The backslider.

The unconcerned.

Certainly souls will be saved if these conditions are duly met, which never fail to produce that blessed result—that is, Faith and Works, exercised together, on the part of all the soldiers.

Red Hot Salvation Meetings.

The C. O. will take things in hand these two weeks, in an earnest endeavor to get a definite haul of souls. He will run the meetings, those who will suggest themselves as being the most likely to bring about this very desirable end. Every night in the week is to be devoted to a straight salvation meeting of the red-hot stamp.

He will not be tied down to any particular program, although it is essential that he have one. So long, however, as he succeeds in getting a good "gathering in" of souls, he may conclude that he has made the clock strike once more the extinction of his Commissioner and superior officers.

The following is suggested as being likely to be helpful to that end:—

Bare Visitation.

The visitation program, previously set forth, must be kept up. Much more can be accomplished by "beyonded" work than by any other. For that reason every soldier should, after a little sharpening of weapons (three-drill at the barracks), be sent to visit wherever at all practicable. Any person anxious to reform should be brought to the barracks to be prayed with, and given a good chance to get saved.

Women Only.

"Women only" could be the special feature one night. Where female officers are in charge, one or both, can lead; where married officers are stationed, the wife could conduct the meeting. In corps commanded by male officers, a good woman, who has influence, experience, and spiritual power, and who knows how to successfully run a meeting, should be appointed to the duty, and be given a few days' notice beforehand.

Nature of Meeting.

The nature of the meeting will at once suggest itself to the sisters. Let a few of the most influential and successful workers be called upon, alternately, to sing and speak in that fervent spirit that frank manner and that clear language, which will be most calculated to commend itself with aptness and help.

Territorial Newslets.

Brigadier Friedrich specialized at Riverside on Siege Sunday. The crowds turned out well to all the meetings in spite of the inclemency of the weather. The afternoon meeting was an old-fashioned, all over the shop, testimony meeting, with plenty of fire and variety. Ensign Morris assisted the Brigadier. Two souls sought salvation.

The Commissioner will meet the City Locals in Council on Friday night. This meeting is sure to be a real spiritual feast and source of great encouragement.

The Chief Secretary will conduct the farewell meeting of Major and Mrs. Smeeton and Major and Mrs. Turner in the Temple on Wednesday, March 13th.

The Self-Denial effort in Newfoundland will take place about the third week in April. The day, affecting the remainder of the Territory will be made known later.

ful blessing to those who struggle with the temptations, weaknesses, and difficulties peculiar to the sex, many of whom will, of course, have been previous victims by the sisters, and invited to the meeting.

Brothers Visit.

The brothers must be instructed to abstain from attending this meeting, and to devote their efforts to visitation and the advertising of their own meeting, when arranged.

Brothers' Meeting.

A similarly-successful meeting might be arranged for the brothers only. The directions given to the sisters in the preceding paragraph will apply to this, with the one exception that the meeting will simply be reversed in the matter of sex—the brothers taking charge at the barracks, and the women of the visitation.

Converts' Meeting.

A Converts' meeting, well worked up, would interest the public, and should be conducted on salvation lines, the C. O. arranging for the converts made during the Siege to take the main active part. Should there be a sufficient force of new learners, they could be called upon to sustain the whole meeting from beginning to end, the C. O. merely keeping hold of the reins and giving a word of encouragement, or admonition, where necessary. The C. O. should urge the soldiers to support the converts with the vitalizing elements of sympathy, love, appropriation, and prayer.

Short and Brisk.

This meeting should be short and brisk, and be well mixed with plenty of singing. The C. O. should especially endeavor to draw those out to speak who have been backsliders, and to tell of the disappointment and wretchedness they experienced while away from God, and their posts, as also their joys since returning.

The Three Classes.

To get souls the C. O. will find it a good plan to occasionally close the first meeting early. If within the hour from the time of starting, so much the better, and to have only three classes of people to remain for a while.

1.—Those who are already saved and want to bless and help others to get saved.

2.—Those who are to be saved, but are new backsliders, and who still have a desire to return to God.

3.—Those who have never been saved, and who wish to be.

The C. O. should then, in the midst of the Holy Ghost, lay himself out with the co-operation of the soldiers, to get a "good catch" from the two latter classes, carrying the meeting on as long as something is being accomplished.

Secure Spiritual Specials.

Wherever it is possible, the C. O. should secure one or more good spiritual specials for as many of the meetings as the special can undertake.

The Territorial Staff Band conducted a successful Musicale at Riverside on Monday last. Brigadier Friedrich directed the proceedings.

Colonel and Mrs. Jacobs are booked to conduct the final meeting of the present series of Revival Meetings at Lisgar St.

Major Turner conducts a wedding at Dovercourt on the 11th inst and another at Lisgar St. on the 12th.

The special service of song entitled, "Lost Sheep" appearing in the Cry of Feb'y 9th was successfully given by the Lippincott Corps, and resulted in nine souls seeking salvation.

Mrs. Lieut.-Col. Margrave conducted her final meeting in Bermuda on Tuesday last and is now enroute to Toronto.

Brigadier Gasdin is again commencing to be busied as the old stand. During the past two weeks there has been a marked improvement in the Brigadier's health.

The Siege Launched.

There is every reason to believe that the Siege has been successfully launched as a whole, all over the Territory. Siege Sunday has been specially marked by increased crowds, interest and prisoners taken. An earnest, persevering effort is made by the Field Officers to work in accordance with the plan of campaign, and we believe that the troops in every section are rallying around the flag to carry the Siege through with vigor and determination. Let those corps who have signally succeeded at the start not be less vigilant and slacken effort; while those whose visible achievements have possibly been below expectation should nevertheless go through with the program as laid down in the Siege hand-book, and at the conclusion they cannot possibly fail to find evidences of success in the corps.

Unity of action is a mighty force. The Siege is needed. The Siege is no longer an experiment, but a well-proved success, and the Siege must prove a success in your corps, IF YOU WILL HAVE IT SO.

ATTENTION!

UNAVOIDABLY CROWDED OUT.

GREAT BRITAIN.

Concerning his Nottingham campaign, the General sent the following message to the London Cry. The soul-saving record was 149:

"Yesterday, at Nottingham, was one of the mightiest days of my life. Considering the size of the building, the suits were gratifying in the extreme. 'Never do I remember three meetings during which the mighty convicting and converting influences of the Holy Spirit were more equally sustained all the way through.'

"The crowds—three-fourths men, and hardened and degraded men into the bargain—seemed to devour the truth, which condemned their sins, and doomed their souls to destruction, and leapt with eagerness at the offer of salvation on the spot.

"To saints and soldiers, it was heaven on earth: to sinners and backsliders, it was Divine mercy, and the beginning of a new life; to my own heart, it was joy unspeakable and full of glory, and the confirmation of expectations I am cherishing for still greater things.

"Nottingham for Christ, and salvation for the world!

"Officers and soldiers of every corps, I charge you to be up and doing, and that with all your might.

"God must, and shall, conquer.—William Booth."

JAPAN.

Major Duce, Chief Secretary for Japan, has been suffering with his eyes. So serious has the position become, that it was necessary for him to undergo treatment in a Tokyo hospital. General French, who is sweeping the country east, scattering the Boers before him, reports that disorganized parties numbering about five thousand are in front of him. British troops are stationed at the boundary of Swaziland, but heavy rains have interfered much with the operations. The loss inflicted on the enemy are 292 killed and wounded, 81 taken prisoners, 183 surrendered, and one gun, 462 rifles, a large quantity of small ammunition, horses, mules, cattle, sheep, and carts were captured. The Boer casualties were 40 killed and 112 wounded. Among the killed was Major Howard, a Canadian.—Colonel Plummer reports that Colonel Owen captured two guns, as well as 53 prisoners, and DeVet is reported to be defeated, and his forces scattered. He took three hundred of his best horses, with which to escape, with some of his followers.—Louis Botha declares his intention to fight to the last. If necessary, he says he can carry on the war six years longer.—A number of the high officers are leaving again from England for South Africa.—Lord Kitchener narrowly escaped being captured by the Boers while travelling in the Transvaal. Several trains have been derailed by the Boers during the week.—It is reported that the Acting President of the Transvaal counts further resistance futile.—The Boers captured a train-load of food-stuffs near Kilip River. They destroyed all they could not conveniently carry.—A force of eight hundred Boers north of Pretoria is reported to be in rags and discussing surrender.—The X-rays have been a great service during the war. FROM THE WOMEN'S SOCIAL AND RESCUE WORK.

"Thou shalt be served thyself by every case of service which thou renderest."

—E. S. Browning.

By LIEUT.-COLONEL MRS. READ.

We propose moving our present Working Women's Home, in Montreal, into more commodious premises. We are looking for a suitable building.

While visiting Montreal I had the privilege of conducting a meeting with the girls of the Rescue Home. Three sought pardon at the Saviour's feet.

Adj. Ellery is getting hold of the Rescue Work in Montreal. We are contemplating some improvements in the Home.

Major Stewart visited Ottawa on business this week. Mrs. Payne and her officers are doing their best for the uplifting of the needy. We intend to open a larger house in Ottawa in May.

Our Home and Hospital, in St. John, N. B., is crowded to its utmost capacity. There are 28 girls in the Home and 21 children in the Nursery Department.

Two little girls, in Regina, N. W. T., sent one dollar to the Winnipeg Rescue Home. The money had been given them for candy, but they denied themselves for the sake of the little ones in the Army Home. God's blessing upon these children.

The Young Ladies' Sewing Circle, of Bond Street Congregational Church, Toronto, made some quilts for the coats of the Evangeline Home. We are grateful to the kind donors and appreciate their loving gift.

Adj. Langtry writes, urging the necessity of a larger house for the Rescue Work in the Prairie City. Winnipeg citizens have always been most generous to the Women's Social Work.

Five dollars were recently required in the Women's Social Headquarters' office for a special purpose yesterday. Our funds were much overdrawn and we did not know where to get the money. A lady and gentleman called and settled the problem by leaving (unasked) the required amount. We are grateful.

Capt. Cracker, the Matron of the Evangeline Home for Children, Toronto, has a great responsibility resting upon her just now to feed, clothe, and keep warm and comfortable the family of 26 children. We shall appreciate any pecuniary remembrance of the little ones' needs. Address Mrs. Read, Territorial Headquarters, or Matron, 68 Farley Ave.

Revival Fire in the E. O. P.

Many Souls Saved at Twoed During the Last Two or Three Weeks—Thirty Souls Forward at Ottawa.

Ensign Jones, of Twoed, reports as follows:

"We had a wonderful day yesterday. I think the best yet. We started out with five knee-drills, with an attendance of three, five, nine, ten, and nine; total, thirty-six. The J. S. company attendances were six, eight, ten, and ten. In the afternoon we met at three houses, held prayer meetings and marched to the hall. Brigade No. 1, five; No. 11, twenty; No. 11, eleven; total, thirty-three. We marched to the hall yet, and then in the Junior meeting, after the Senior meeting, we had a number forward. Attendance at night was 148, and twelve souls for salvation. Finishing up at noon 12 o'clock. Some beautiful cases were among them; people who used to be soldiers long ago coming back, and a fine lot of young people.

"Mrs. Jones has drawn up a plan of the place, and I have marked it out in words. The soldier's homes are distinguished by a big red spot, supposed to be a flame of fire for God, while the converts' houses are marked by a small red spot. It gives us a correct idea of the position of the town in which the work is spreading must. The majority of our old attendants are now on the platform. We had our Band of Love meeting into a salvation meeting, and four were saved, last Monday night. In many homes, unknown to us at the time. God is working. One man who was sick and used to come to our barracks at all, told Sergt.-Major that he felt the influence of the meetings and prayers. Some of the soldiers have put in as much as nine hours, and more, in meeting and prayer, right along, without food, and fasting with some has become a luxury.

"Mrs. Jones has been away to Cloyne for two Sundays, to spread the fire. She took another sister with her, and on their way they stayed with a lady who used to be a soldier. She had an ulcer on her leg; when she walked she had to kneel on a chair and get along like that. They began talking of Divine healing, and prayed for her. God gave them the assurance, and it came to Mrs. Jones that they should tell her to rise. Although she shrunk from that at first, she claimed it right from God: the woman was healed, and leapt, and danced, and praised God. They all laughed and cried, and Mrs. Jones said it was wonderful to witness.

"We had between 50 and 60 out to Band of Love to-night (Monday), and two sought salvation. We give God all the glory."

OTTAWA.—It was my pleasure to spend Saturday, Sunday, and Monday last at the Imperial City. Adj. and Mrs. Kendall have been here for a long time, and doing a glorious work; the result that now a glorious revival has broken out. Thirty-three souls have been out to the penitent form during three days, a number for cleansing, and about a score for glorification. The meetings were simply glorious.

MONTREAL I.—A united meeting of the City Corps was held last night (Tuesday). Had a large attendance. God drew near, and officers and soldiers promised to do the will of the Lord and do their best. There were also eight who surrendered for cleansing.—Briz. Eugene.

THE SOUL-SAVING TROUPE AT GALT.

A Hard-Fought Battle—Twenty-three Seekers at the Mercy Seat.

The Soul-Saving Troupe arrived here on Tuesday. The officers, Ensign Hollett, Capt. Jordonson, and our visit well announced, and had done our visit well to get everything into shape for us. We had a very tough fight here, but God, the Holy Ghost, stood by us and help us to gain the victory. Twenty-three came forward for salvation and cleansing, eleven promising to take their stand as soldiers. A number of people testified to the fact that they had been greatly blessed during the special meetings. On the half-night of prayer closed in, at a quarter to four in the morning, Capt. Jordonson and Lieut. Groombridge, of Hespeler, were present, also Capt. Williams, of Woodstock. We are determined to do all we possibly can, and to lead the devil's kingdom.—W. Orchard, Adj.

THE W. O. P. TROUPE.

Hespeler Stirred—Crowds Turned Away—Thirty-eight at the Cross.

The members of the Soul-Saving Troupe were driven by Capt. Jordonson from Galt to Hespeler. We were almost stuck in the snow several times and it was very cold. The fire of the Holy Spirit was burning in our hearts. We arrived safely at Hespeler, and the inhabitants soon knew it, too. They looked with amazement on our long red coats, as though they had never seen a Salvationist before.

Our first meeting was held in the Evangelical Church, owing to the Templar's Hall being in use. There was a good attendance, two pastors were present, who gave short addresses. Everybody seemed to enjoy the meeting, and at the close one came forward for a clean heart. On Saturday night the meeting was held in Galt's Hall, where a real good revival was established. The devil was raging, and no wonder, for seven of his prisoners were set free. We closed at 11:30 p.m. with a glory dance.

On Sunday at 7 a. m. we had a love-feast. The holiness meeting at 11 was just beautiful; twelve came out for cleansing and power, and the comrades were greatly stirred up. Some of them stayed and prayed instead of going home for dinner. Both afternoon meetings were very good. The crowd was so large, and people turned away. Three knelt at the Cross for pardon at night. Monday night was the crowning time; the first meeting was held in the Presbyterian school room, which was about two hundred and sixty, but was not large enough to accommodate all who came. Two came out for a clean heart. The half-night of prayer was held in the Templar's Hall; one hundred and nine people were present, and we had a beautiful time. God's presence was felt and a number came forward for a baptism of the Holy Ghost. The total at the penitent-form during the Troupe's visit was thirty-eight, and the finances were good.

Ensign Hollett, Lieut. Carley, Cadet Erb, and a number of soldiers came over from Galt for the Monday night. Capt. Copeman, with a load of comrades from Paris, was also present, and we were glad to hear Capt. Copeman say that the work is still going on at Paris, and they have fourteen ready for enrolment. Hespeler is alright; the people treated us nicely, and gave us a very good reception. Captain Jordonson and Lieut. Groombridge had our visit well announced, and did their best to help us in every way possible. God bless them.—W. Orchard, Adj.

GUELPH.

The Soul-Saving Troupe reached here on Tuesday with a determination to do all in their power for God and souls during their seven days' stay. Ensign Gamble met us at the station with a small crowd, and we were glad to see the quarters. We found Lieut. Craft also smiling with a nice supper prepared for us, which we enjoyed very much. The officers did their best to help us in every way possible, and God will reward them. We saw no results in our first meeting, but on the second night six knelt at the feet of Jesus.

On Saturday night we were reinforced by our most worthy P. O., Major McMillan. We were delighted to see him as he is always a blessing to us. Both Saturday and Sunday nights the light in the barracks was something like that of a good many professing Christians, very dim (the sin light was from). However, two came to the Mercy Seat on Sunday night. By the way, there seems to be a great many folks troubled with the gripe at the present time, and I reckon that the soldiers had a firm grip of the blankets, and were all night by the number that came to pray for souls. The holiness meeting was a real heart-searching time. The Major was in good trim and spoke with power. One soul came forward in the morning, two in the afternoon, and three at night. Some attended the meetings who had not done so for years.

Monday night we had a grand time, and the Major enrolled three soldiers. Capt. Jordonson, of Groombridge, and two loads of Hespeler comrades came over to help us, also Cadet Erb, of Galt. We were pleased to see them. The half-night of prayer was glorious. Twelve came forward and prayed, and four promised to become soldiers, the total number at the Mercy Seat being twenty-eight.—W. Orchard, Adj.

Heart-Backsliding.

"I know thy works, and thy labor, and thy patience, and how thou canst not hear them which are evil; and thou hast tried them which say they are apostles, and are not, and hast found them liars."

"And hast borne, and hast patience, and for My name's sake hast labored, and hast not fainting."

"Nevertheless, I have somewhat against thee, because thou hast left thy first love."—Revelation II. 2-4.

Watch your thoughts; for if you can keep vile thoughts out of your mind your whole life will keep sweet. Keep your mind stayed on God.

Staff-Captain Taylor

VISITS SPOKANE DISTRICT.

Souls Saved—Soldiers Enrolled—Band of Love Organized—Juniors Added to the Roll.

I have just returned from a two weeks' trip, visiting six of the eight corps in the Spokane District, and I am glad to be able to report progress in every corps.

NEELSON—Adj. McGill has returned from his furlough much improved in health. During his absence Mrs. McGill bravely held the fort, and had the joy of seeing souls saved and soldiers enrolled.

Bread, Temporal and Spiritual.

About three months ago the officers were asked by an old man on the street for five cents for a loaf of bread. They took him to the quarters, talked to him about his sins, and the pardon and power of God, gave him a loaf and got his promise to come to the meetings, with the result that he is now an earnest, active soldier, with a good situation, and his countenance and testimony is an inspiration to all.

The spirit of the soldiers here is fine; the officers are much loved, and the writer will not soon forget the two public meetings and soldiers' meetings held in Nelson.

FERNIE.—About five months ago I visited this little town somewhat in the capacity of a Salvation prospector. God seemed to be working here, and a small hall and quarters combined was leased at a moderate rental, and two months later Capt. and Mrs. Lacey were sent to open fire. The Army's advent has already made a mark upon the town, and a good soul-saving work has been done.

A Happy Week-end.

The week-end spent here was a busy and happy one. Nine were enrolled as soldiers and four transfers were placed on the roll, making thirteen; among these were the wife of Fred, of Twoed, and McMillan, who moved to Fernie three years ago, and stuck to his colors till the Army came. Seven Local Officers were commissioned, including Treasurer, Sec. Retary, J. S. A. I., and Publication S. A. The Band of Love was organized on Saturday night and thirteen became members on the spot. The Junior work is having a full share of attention and five companies are being worked. There are now five candidates in the ranks. In addition to what has been reported, a good stroke has been done in fitting up and furnishing the officers' quarters, which is now quite cosy and comfortable. The soldiers deserve credit for the way they have helped the officers in this direction; one comrade alone having donated a new carpet costing considerably over $20.00.

ROSSLAND.—Adj. Stevens and Capt. Beaumont have been especially successful here, having secured the services of Juniors who have been getting saved; no less than sixteen new names being put on the J. S. Roll at this Census meeting. We held two public meetings here: on the second night, a Coffee and Cake Social was given at the close, which netted a nice sum.

KAMLOOPS.—This pretty town by the riverfront cannot boast of a very large corps yet, but Capt. Sheard, who has just taken charge, is quite hopeful for an increase. We had a good turnout to the Saturday night meeting, the soldiers and friends promising to stand by the Captain in the fight.

REVELSTOCK.—Capt. Southall and Lieut. Owen and the soldiers had been busy the week previous in painting the barracks, papering the quarters, etc., and the improved appearance of things generally is a credit to all concerned. Ensign Staiger assisted in the meeting, this being his last Sunday in the District. Capt. God gave him success in his new appointment. The two large Siege posters were nicely fixed on the barracks walls, calling aloud for volunteers to go to the front.

In the holiness meeting a young man who had been saved a month ago, after reading aloud part of the Siege poster, "I am again brought face to face with the cross I slobbered in the East some of the soldiers, but I was back, out, back, and came out to the West. Quite a number have been saved, and several added to the roll lately."—Chancellor.

BATTLE BULLETIN

TWENTY-FIVE CORPS REPORT 88 SOULS SAVED.

SIGNS OF REVIVAL ALL ROUND THE FIELD

A Visit to the Country.

BARRE.—We have had many obstacles to overcome, but through the persistent efforts of Captain Owens, the future looks brighter. The Capt. is under farewell orders and his many friends wish him God speed. Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence, who live about four miles out of the city, invited us to their home for a meeting, and on Tuesday night we availed ourselves of the privilege. About thirty-seven were present, and we enjoyed ourselves very much. Bro. Abel gave a number of selections on the Graphophone, others sang solos, and Capt. Owens spoke of the great love of God, which was backed home by the Holy Spirit, and two young men gave themselves to God.—Zacharias.

Seven Souls at the Bethel.

BAY ROBERTS.—Sunday we had with us Brigadier and Mrs. Sharp, accompanied by Adj. Cave and Ensign Hiseck. We spent a good day, and one soul sought the forgiveness of his sins. This was Brigadier and Mrs. Sharp's last visit to Bay Roberts. They have since been a great blessing to us, and in parting with them we feel we are losing a mother and father. God bless them. Monday night, at the old Bethel, Gai went to Bay Roberts, and on Sunday, seven young men got blessedly saved. We are believing for good times during the Siege.—M. Noel, Ensign.

A Wonderful Man.

BRIDGEWATER, N. S.—We had a visit from Capt. Armstrong, the wonderful man from Lunenburg. He took for his subject, "It is finished." There was a good crowd present. On Sunday night Capt. Richards and Lieut. Pemberton farwelld after a stay of seven months, having worked hard and faithfully for the Master, and leave with the best wishes of soldiers and friends.—P. A. H.

Six Soldiers.

BRIGGS.—Although the fighting is a little hard the Lord is helping us to sway the enemy. Brigadier and Mrs. Sharp paid us their farewell visit on Thursday night. They were accompanied by Adj. Cave, Ensign Hiseck, Capt. James and Lieut. Cummings. The building was packed, the meeting very interesting, and many were convicted of sin.—A. J. Sackland, Captain.

The Old-Time Religion.

CLARENVILLE.—Two precious souls came to God this week. We are getting the droppings and believing for the showers. On Tuesday night we had an old-fashioned salvation meeting, and it was good to be there.—Sergt.-Major.

Post's Meeting.

DEVIL'S LAKE.—Our Musical Meeting and Bean School was a success and enjoyed by all. Saturday night we had a post's meeting, which we believe was a blessing, and Sunday Capt. Wilkins commissioned four sergeants.—Brother Frank.

Fourteen Children Seek Salvation.

DILDO.—On Sunday six souls came to Mercy street. Monday night we thought it good to have a prayer meeting in the Band of Love and it proved to be the proper thing. Fourteen juniors professed salvation. Last night was our most blessed time. Our soldiers are of the proper stamp.—A. Summers, Lieut.

An Almighty Saviour.

EDMONTON.—The Siege is the order of the day, and the Edmonton Braves are in for making the most of this special effort to get souls saved and make soldiers. On account of the cold weather during the past week, our crowds are not as large as usual, but we are holding up Jesus as an Almighty Saviour for every blood-bought soul. On Tuesday of last week, the company went to the country to a soldier's home, where we had a real old-fashioned meeting. Everyone was blessed, and after refreshments, we returned home, arriving about one a. m., tired, but happy.—"Shorty."

A Lantern Service.

GANANQUE.—Saturday night Capt. Poole conducted a lantern service. A good crowd was present, and enjoyed the meeting. The Captain was with us all day Sunday, and gave us some good straight talk, and some music and song. Many souls were convicted of sin.—R.C.

A Great Disappointment.

GLACE BAY.—The keenest disappointment is manifested by all classes of people in Glace Bay by the news of the serious sickness of our beloved Commissioner. "Everybody" expected to hear Miss Booth, and consequently "everybody" is disappointed, but we are not going to despair. We are praying for her speedy recovery, and believe she will visit Cape Breton as soon as her health permits. The meetings on Sunday resulted in two souls seeking pardon.—Sergt.-Major.

A Social Success.

HALIBURTON.—The Salvation Army held two services here last week and have, beyond all doubt, produced a very powerful effect. Many persons who never attended the churches were present, and listened with deep attention to the remarks of the speakers. There were two Salvationists from Kimmout.

Ensign Snow's Visit.

JACKSON'S COVE, Nfld.—Last week we were highly favored with a visit from our new D. O., Ensign Snow. He received a good welcome. Thursday night we had a blessed time. The Ensign spoke from Gen. xlix. 10, and his words, accompanied by the Holy Spirit, opened the eyes and ears of the listeners and created an impression that is altogether indelible. One backslider came home, making three souls since last report. The Ensign also inspected our educational day school, and gave the pupils a lecture, which they enjoyed very much. His stay with us was short, but we were blessed and encouraged by his words of counsel.—Lieut. Gosse.

Work for Eternity.

JAMESTOWN, N. B.—Everything is going on nicely here. Souls are being saved and sanctified, some of whom are children. I believe a work is being done for eternity. May God bless the efforts put forth and crown them with success, in the prayer of one interested.—Corporal Cadet Oscar R. Carter.

Children Lead the Way.

KALISPELL.—There are a few good soldiers here, and God is giving us the victory. The children are taking a great interest, and five sought the Saviour during the past week. We are believing for a good work among the Juniors.—Cadet-Lieut. Evans.

A Revival Started.

LISGAR ST.—The Siege has been preceded at Lisgar St. by a week's revival meetings, led by Major and Mrs. Turner. The battalions marched out in full force on Sunday, which alarmed the enemy, and in the evening we went out scouts, who captured one soul. We also had a string band, composed of Staff-Captain Creighton, Adj. Attwell, Capt. French, and Capt. and Mrs. McLelland. Quite a number are convicted, whom we expect to capture before long. We had nineteen at knee-drill, and fifty-eight on the march.

Three Volunteers.

MISSOULA.—Since last report three precious souls have volunteered for salvation, and we are glad to be able to report good spiritual meetings.—J. H. F., R. C.

Successful Meetings.

NEWMARKET.—We have had a banquet here, which proved a decided success, the proceeds amounting to $17. Seventeen comrades drove over from Hope for the banquet and meeting. The hall was well filled, and the program all that could be desired. Sunday's meetings were good, and three souls sought salvation.—Thos. Hunter.

Thirteen Months' Old.

NEWTOWN.—Our new D. O., Ensign Sparks, and Capt. Fudge, of Westleyville, have been with us. This is the Ensign's first visit to Newtown, and we were glad to see him. We had a nice crowd, and the collection and every body was delighted with the meeting. The commissioning of eight locals is an evidence that the S. A. means business, for corps being scarcely thirteen months old.—A. C. T., C. O.

"The Lord's Table and the Devil's Table."

NEW WESTMINSTER.—Cadet-Lieutenant Prouse, the Hallelujah Cornishman from Butter, Mont., has been sent to help push on the war. He has come amongst a good-hearted lot of people. "The Lord's Table and the Devil's Table" was given on Saturday and proved to be a good draw. Another warbler came back Sunday night. We are going to do our best in the Siege.—F. R. B.

Deep Conviction.

NORTH BAY.—We have had a good week. On Sunday the presence of God was felt in our meetings, and deep conviction was stamped on the faces of many people. We are believing for a break soon. Prayer and faith will bring the victory.—Jennie Bone, Lieut.

Welcome Home.

NORTH SYDNEY.—At our holidays meeting last Sunday morning we had a specially joyful time, and in the midst of it our Hallelujah Nightingale, Bro. Chidlett, who has been away at Point Tupper since last Fall, came in. He tells us that he has only been able to attend two or three religious meetings since he left, yet God has kept Him true. Capt. Thompson promoted him to this meeting to Publication Sergt.-Major. God bless our new Sergt.-Major. In the afternoon free-and-easy we had the pleasure of giving a welcome to our Secretary and War Cry Correspondent, who was stormy all day. God's power moved upon us, and some gave evidence of repentance. Two souls professed conversion while the officers were visiting. Our hearts are sore and sorrowful on hearing of the Commodore's sickness, and her visit to Cape Breton being postponed. We shall all pray for a quick recovery.—N. Martell, Treas.

Six Souls.

ORANGEVILLE.—Though the fight is a little hard, we trust in the strength of our King. During the past week six souls sought Jesus at the penitent form. Hallelujah!—Lieut. Phillips.

Six Seeking the Saviour.

PETERBORO.—We have been favored with a three-days' visit of our old friend, Staff-Capt. Burditt. God came near to us in each meeting, and the unsaved were deeply convicted. On Monday night we had a cake and coffee social and a very interesting lecture by the Staff-Captain on his travels half-way round the world. We closed the week with one soul for pardon and five for training. To Jesus we give all the glory.—Neille Smith.

Farewell and Welcome.

ROSSLAND.—Ensign Staiger and Capt. Sheard have paid us a visit. The meetings were good and resulted in one soul seeking salvation. This was the Ensign's farewell, and he gave his experience as a Salvation Army officer, which was interesting and inspiring. We have welcomed our new District Officer, Staff-Captain Taylor, whose meetings were times of blessing, though the crowds were small. Some before last a prodigal returned, and now testifies to the love and mercy of his Heavenly Father.—George Wardell, J. S. S.-M.

All on Fire.

SULLY COVE.—Our soldiers are all on fire, and after a hard battle all day Sunday, the enemy are defeated. One soul came to Jesus, and many more left the meeting under deep conviction.—W. C. S.-M.

Twelve Seeking Christ.

ST. JOHN'S III.—Twelve souls have found pardon through Christ, and have taken their stand for Him. Nine sought the blessing of holiness. The crowds have been good, War Cry sold out, and we have indicated our own support. Marshall is a real hustler.—L. Shoppan, Capt.

A Good Work Done.

ST. JOHNSBURY.—A cake and coffee meeting was held on Feb. 10th, which was quite a successful affair. Ensign McLean and Lieut. Hicks are farewelling, and we earnestly pray that God will abundantly bless them in their new appointment. Everybody here can testify that they have done up, and well. Several have sought the Lord, some of whom have since become soldiers in the Army; several new articles of furniture have been purchased for the quarters, and although it takes a lot of wood to keep it warm here, the officers have the place entirely free from debt. Good seed has been sown, and we trust that before many weeks much fruit shall be gathered in for the Master.—W. G. R.

God has Answered Our Prayer.

SYDNEY.—At our soldiers' meeting we pledged ourselves to devote at least fifteen minutes a day in prayer for our corps, and the unsaved. God has honored our faith and answered while we were yet praying. At knee-drill Sunday morning we claimed six souls for God, and the devil, with all his forces, opposed us; but God is almighty, and the surrender came last night, when six young men sought the forgiveness of their sins, making eleven for the week. On Thursday night the Captain spoke from the words, "Thou shalt surely die." The service had the approval and sanction of the Holy Ghost, and two were saved.—E. W. M.

Drunkards' Meeting.

TRINITY, N.H.—On Saturday night we had a drunkard's meeting. A good crowd gathered for the occasion, and the meeting was both interesting and successful. We are having fine times at Trinity. Our crowds are increasing, and many are under deep conviction. I believe the right officers are in the right place. God is already blessing their labors, and we are going in together to get men and women saved.—Sergt. John Lucas.

Another Backslider.

EXBRIDGE.—Another backslider came home on Sunday. Glory to God! —Cadet-Lieut. Minnes.

Sanctifier and Healer.

VALLEY CITY, N. D.—God has been blessing us in a wonderful manner lately. Last week three souls sought a deeper work of grace, and two others desired an interest in our prayers. We are believing for a great break in the enemy's ranks soon. I have only been here a week, but since coming the Lord has laid His healing hand upon me, and I now claim Him as my Healer as well as my Sanctifier.—Lieut. Bristow.

From Bar-room to Army Platform.

WALLACEBURG.—Saturday night we had a musical bazaar, and a good crowd enjoyed music from nearly all kinds of instruments. We also had acted out "From Bar-Room to Army Platform," which was very good. We are believing to see many, who are now in sin, brought to accept Christ during the Siege.—Mrs. Capt. Huntington.

Move On!

WOODSTOCK, Ont.—

Oh, yes, we are a happy crowd, We're loyal to our King, W. Woodstock soldier, love the Lord, And loud His praises sing.

We could not help praising the dear Lord, since He has been wonderfully working in our midst. Hardly any meetings are held, but we have some manifestation of the Spirit. We have had a visit from our D. O. Adj. Blackburn. The Adjutant's motto is "Move on!" We closed the meeting on Sunday night with TEN SOULS. A number of soldiers danced, others shouted, and we all gave God the glory.—Mrs. J. Paul. R. C.

Leaguese Sergt. T. B. Brown, Hamilton, Bermuda, Minister of the W. F. B. Regt.

Adj. and Mrs. Miller and their Daughter Joy.

A LONDON WEDDING.

Bandman John Fleming and B. O. L. Sergt. Emma Southall United in Matrimony.

"Oh, the crowning day is coming, hallelujah!" was given out by Staff-Capt. Rawling, and everyone seemed in splendid spirits for a good, hearty sing. After prayer, the Staff-Captain was teaching us a new chorus, something about "We'll be neighbors again." Just as the people were taking on to it, in marched the bridal party, headed by our fatherly P. O., who had a twinkle in his eye, as though he felt right at home. As the party stepped on the platform they were greeted with a most deafening volley.

Bandman and Mrs. Fleming.

The Major gave a few introductory remarks, and then called upon the band for one of their favorite selections. Then came a solo by Ernest Landshule, after which bandman Rogers and Bro. Asford were called upon for a few words.

Johnnie Fixed Up.

Bro. West thought at one time that marriage would be a failure as far as "Johnnie" was concerned, but believed he would be "fixed up to-night," unless there be a "sin between the cup and the lip." Mrs. Major McMillan spoke next, and said that a union brought together by God must surely be right. Bandmaster Pope, who is always jovial when any of the band-boys are being married, said he was very much pleased to see "Johnnie" coming over on the right side, and hoped he would always be good to his wife, be prompt in attending the meetings, and would always bring his wife with him.

Adj. Wakefield then spoke a few words about the importance of a union being sealed by God: after which Staff-Capt. Rawling read the lesson, and thanked God for a good wife. Major McMillan conducted the solemn ceremony. The "I wills" could be heard with no uncertain sound.

Spoke After Bouncing.

After Bro. Fleming had fully recovered from the shock of "bouncing," the Major called upon him to speak. He said he was clear in taking this step, and by God's help he was going to be a better soldier than ever. Mrs. Fleming spoke of her intentions to be true to God, and do her best for the interests of His Kingdom. Sergt. Emily Harwood also spoke of the goodness of God to her, and Bandman Frank Russell told the people he was glad he was saved and marching on.

The Major read a telegram of congratulation from Staff-Capt. Phillips, and also a message from Secretary Norfolk, who was sick and unable to attend. In closing, the Major gave some good sound advice to the young people, said he had been married twenty-eight years, and had proved God to be His sufficiency.

At the close of the meeting a beautiful wedding supper was provided for the soldiers and friends, and after doing justice to the good things there, a handsome clock was presented to Mrs. Fleming by the corps and a beautiful lamp to Bro. Fleming from the band. This brought to a close a very happy event, and Bro. and Sister Fleming may be assured of the prayers of their fellow-soldiers for a bright and useful future in the service of their Master.—Wm.

THE DEVIL LAID UP.

BERMUDA NOTES.

A Visit from Ensign Andrews—The Photograph Attends Large Crowds—Fulfill O. B. M. Agents.

We are still marching on to victory. We have had a visit from Ensign Andrews, the T. F. S. He arrived on Christmas morning, and conducted the first meeting on Boxing Day. We were all glad to see him. The people crowded into the hall to hear the beautiful phonograph that the Adjutant told them the Ensign was bringing with him. Everybody seemed very much pleased with it.

At St. George's the crowd was not so large, owing to the rain, which prevented the people from coming. The Sunday meetings were fairly good.

Sumerset came next, and we had a packed house at the photograph meeting.

There was another shower of rain at Southampton. The people were so taken up with the phonograph that they had the service repeated.

The Ensign spent Saturday and Sunday at Hamilton. Sunday night was the crowning time, when seven souls sought salvation. To God be all the glory.

Hamilton, Bermuda, Barracks.

Bermuda is very fascinating to all visitors, and the T. F. S. was no exception, so he decided to stay until the next boat. He did a few special meetings in aid of a sick officer, who needed a little financial help.

The Ensign reckons the people of Bermuda are about the kindest he has met, and does not hesitate to say so. He is also delighted with the faithful work the G. B. M. Agents have been doing the past year. He is farwelling for the Pacific Coast. We wish him God-speed, and pray that he will have success in his new appointment. We are sorry he is leaving the Eastern Province, as we shall not have the privilege of seeing him again.

We extend to his successor, Ensign Parker, a hearty welcome to our beautiful Island.—J. F. Moore, Secretary.

Stopped Cattle Stealing.

For a long time the ranches along the Little Missouri suffered a great deal from the depredations of cattle thieves. Finally the sheriff called the ranch-owners in consultation. Among them was Theodore Roosevelt. The sheriff severely denounced the thieves, asking for the opinions of the ranchers, and Mr. Roosevelt boldly replied:

"There ought to be no great difficulty in carrying out your suggestions, Mr. Sheriff, but I have a strong impression that you will not be the one to carry them out, for I am convinced, and I think every other man in the room is, that you have had more to do with the cattle stealing than any other man in the county."

The sheriff resigned his office the next day and left the country. And the cattle stealing stopped.—March Ladies' Home Journal.

II—THE ROMANS.

CHAPTER XLVII.

VALENTINIAN AND HIS FAMILY

As soon as he reached Constantinople, he divided the Empire with his brother, Valens, whom he left to rule the East, while he himself went to govern the West, chiefly from Milan, for the Emperors were not fond of living at Rome, partly because the remains of the Senate interfered with their full grandeur, and partly because there were old customs that were inconvenient to a Christian Emperor. He was, in general, just and honest in his dealings, but when he was angry he could be cruel, and it is said that he had two bears to whom criminals were thrown. His brother, Valens, was a weaker and less able ruler, and was an Arian, who banished Athanasius once more for the fifth time; but the church of Alexandria prevailed, and he was allowed to remain and die in peace. The crowd that hears his name is not thought of as being evil, but to convey what he taught. There was great talk at this time all over the cities about the questions between the Catholics and Arians, and good men were shocked by hearing the hullest mysticism of the faith gossiped about by the idlers in the baths and market-places.

At this time Damasus, the Pope, desired a very learned Deacon of his church, named Jerome, to make a good translation of the whole of the Scriptures into Latin, comparing the best versions, and giving an account of the books. For this purpose Jerome went to the Holy Land, and lived in a cell at Bethlehem, happy to be out of the way of the quarrels at Rome and Constantinople. There, too, was made the first translation of the Gospels into one of the Teutonic languages, namely, the Gothic. The Goths were a great people, of the same Teutonic race as the Germans, Franks, and Saxons—tall, fair, brave, strong, and handsome and were at this time living on the north bank of the Danube. Many of these young men joined themselves to fight as soldiers in the Roman army; and they were learning Christianity, but only as Arians. It was for them that their Bishop Ulfilas translated the Gospel into Gothic, and perfected the alphabet to write them in. A copy of this translation is still to be seen at Upsal, in Sweden, written on purple vellum in silver letters.

Another great and holy man at this time was Ambrose, the Archbishop of Milan, who was the guide and teacher of Gratian, Valentinian's eldest son, a good and promising youth so far as he went, but who, after he had been baptized, he should be further on in life. Valentinian's second wife was named Justina; and when he died, as it is said from breaking a blood-vessel in a fit of rage, in 375, the Western Empire was shared between her little son Valentinian and Gratian.

Justina was an Arian, and wanted to have a church in Milan, where she could worship without anything full honor and glory to God the Son; but Ambrose felt that the churches were his Master's, not his own, to be given away, and filled the church with Christians, who watched their chanting Psalms day and night, while the soldiers Justina sent to turn them out, joined them, and sang and prayed with them.

Gratian did not choose to be called Pontifex Maximus, or chief priest of all the Roman gods, as all the Emperors had been; and this offended many persons. A general named Maximus rose and reigned as Emperor in Britain, and Gratian had too much on his hands in the north to put him down.

In the meantime, a terrible wild tribe, called Huns, were coming from the West, and driving the Goths before them, so that they were driven from Valens to come across the Danube, and settle themselves in Thracia. The reply was so ill-managed by Valens' counselors that the Goths were offended, and crossed the river Danube, where they might have been friends; and Valens was killed in battle with them at Adrianople in 378.

For Band of Love Workers

THE AMBULANCE CLASS

Bandages for the Hand and Arm.

FOR ONE FINGER.—This should not be more than three-quarters of an inch wide and four to five feet long. We will suppose it is the right fore-finger on which the bandage is to be applied.

Roller Bandage for the Finger.

Place one end of the bandage on the back of the wrist, confine it by a circular turn, and the bandage is then confined, as seen in the cut, over the back of the hand (coming from the side of the little finger) to the base of the first finger; it is wound about the finger in spiral turns until the tip is reached, when the whole member is again covered by regular turns; as the bandage comes between the cleft of the finger, it passes up to the base of the thumb, and then around the wrist, where it may be fastened to the preceding turns.

This bandage may be applied to any or all of the fingers at the same time, and is used for holding the parts together, and for bandaging on splints.

Bandage for the Thumb (Spica).

This bandage should be six feet long and three-quarters of an inch wide.

Spica Bandage for the Thumb.

Holding the hand so that the thumb shall point nearly upward, one end of the bandage is fastened at the wrist, as before. After this has been done, the bandage is brought up across the back of the hand, up to and around the outside of the thumb (at the second joint). The bandage then passes around the inside of the thumb, toward its base, and then around the wrist. Reference to the figure will make the method of application plain. By applying one layer after the other, each one covering one-half the previous turn, the thumb is soon completely covered, together with part of the wrist.

It may be used for keeping dressings on the thumb, and keeping the latter in place after a dislocation has been reduced.

Bandage for Hand and Wrist.

This bandage must be four to five feet long, and one and one-quarter inches wide.

Method of Using a Hand-Bandage for the Hand and Wrist.

Place the end of the bandage on the back of the wrist, and confine it by a circular turn; continue it around to the border corresponding to the thumb, when it is brought across the back of the hand to the junction of the hand and first finger, where it passes to the palm of the hand, one turn being made around the whole hand. After this has been done, the bandage passes from the base of the first finger across the back of the hand to the opposite side of the wrist. These turns may be repeated slightly overlapping each other. The end of the bandage is confined as usual. It is used for holding dressings in place, etc.

Perforated Bandage for Hand and Wrist.

Reference to the figure will show the general arrangement of the bandage. Take a roller bandage eighteen inches long and one inch wide and to the centre of this stitch a piece of linen one foot long and four inches wide, with five perforations in its middle, as shown. It is applied by passing the thumb and finger through the openings and bandaging the other parts down to the hand and taking several turns about the wrist. Its uses need not be explained.

Bandage before being applied.

Spiral Bandage for Hand and Wrist.

This bandage should be three or four yards long and one and one-half inches wide.

Fasten the end of the bandage on the fingers, and confine by a circular turn. As seen in the figure, these turns are continued until the thumb is reached, when it is necessary to make several reverses (the method of which has been explained, to prevent the bandage from becoming loose and slipping off. Several circular turns should be taken about the wrist and lower arm.

Spiral Bandage for Hand and Wrist.

This is a very useful bandage in cases of dislocation, or fracture of the bones of the hand, and also for holding on poultices, etc. Each finger may be bandaged separately, if necessary, before this bandage is applied.

BARRIE BLASTS.

The Army has had another week of interesting meetings. One Senior and one Junior are reported to have found salvation.

"Question and Answer," was the character of the program on Wednesday night; quite a number were asked, but one especially was interesting. Some wanted to know if it was any harm for Christians to drink with doctors or keep their company. The Adjutant gave them a definite answer to this, and we do not think the question will be repeated.

The Salvation Army Dynamic Troupe passed through Barrie on their way to Collingwood, the other day. Judging from their name, they must be noted for their explosive abilities.

An aged brother came in the meeting on Friday and inspired everybody with his glowing testimony concerning the meetings he had attended in the city, conducted by Colonel Jacobs.

There was an increase in the Company attendance on Sunday last.

A drill class was organized on Monday in connection with the Band of Love.

The meetings on Sunday were fraught with blessing. In the afternoon an aged gentleman volunteered for salvation.

The three subjects: "From poverty to plenty," "New light," and "The Celestial City," which were taken up by the officers, were very interesting.

IN MEMORIAM.

A grand Memorial Service for our late beloved Sovereign, Queen Victoria, was held by the Salvation Army here on Sunday last. Prior to the service, perfect arrangements had been made with regard to a march, mourning emblems, accord services, &c., of which regular announcements were given to the daily press. At 2:30 p.m., the different city corps united for the grand march, and with muffled drums, and brass bands playing suitable airs, paraded the principal streets of the city, attracting large numbers of people. At the Citadel the meeting was in the hands of Adj. McLean, and to say that the service was most solemn and impressive is but to say what the largest audience felt in their hearts, and signified by sympathetic expressions that could not be mistaken, and that seemed to convey throughout the building a feeling of profound sorrow for the departure of our beloved Queen, for the several members of the Royal Family and for all others who may be in any way affected by this great national visitation. The Citadel was suitably draped, and a large picture of the Queen faced the audience; the spacious platform was crowded and all the officers and soldiers were mourning emblems.

The opening exercises of the meeting were, indeed, very solemn and impressive. Everybody seemed to share in the weight of sorrow that is now pressing upon the very heart of the great British nation, and touching so acutely the cords of its Colonial possessions throughout the world.

The addresses given on the occasion were heard with very great attention. Adj. Turpin's address was a very pertinent one, showing some of the excellent traits of character exhibited by the Queen in her domestic, social and official relations. Adj. McLean also gave an excellent address, quoting many touching incidents in connection with the history of our beloved and deceased Sovereign, and drawing many practical lessons from her brilliant record as a Queen and a mother, and from the peaceful close of her life after her illustrious reign. Capt. James rendered good service by singing suitable melodies and otherwise assisting in the exercises.

It is too much to say that the expression of sympathy by the Salvation Army of this city, on the occasion of this great national bereavement, cannot be excelled.

EVENING SERVICES.

The evening service at the Citadel was of the real "blood and fire" type. The building was literally packed. Adj. McLean and his soldiers poured some red-hot shot into the enemy's ranks and after a dashing encounter old General Devil was compelled to retreat, leaving many wounded and seven prisoners captured during the engagement.

RECONNOITRING TRIP.

The ever-vigilant Brigadier Sharp is on a reconnoitring trip with Adj. Cave—but nobody seems to know where. The Brigadier's victories are and won with "confused noise and garments rolled in blood," but he is in it all the same and invariably returns with victory perched upon his banners. It will be so on the next occasion.

The different churches are in for revival services just now, and if the machinery is of the right calibre the old devil ought soon to be made to quit the Island altogether.

The Eastern Star Dropping in Good Habits—Arab Holds the Ontario Lead—Mag Keeps Ahead of Nigger—Kitchener to the Front Again.

I am pleased to note that the Eastern Star is sending his list very regularly now. There is nothing like forming good habits.

Arab is keeping game, and holds his own against Mag and Nigger. Mag shows remarkable staying powers of late, while poor Nigger seems to want some short and long oats.

The championship falls again to Kitchener, whose footsteps are still traceable in the snow. Lieut. Crawford is second, which Mrs. Adit. Prager, that well-tried Eastern Hustler, is third, sharing that place with Ensign Parsons.

Special mention must be made of Lieut. Kauckle (165), Mrs. Adit. McGill and Mrs. Ensign Pugh each 100.

In the near future we mean to give the total War Cry sold by each Hustler during the last twelve months, giving the photos of the leading Hustlers. It will be a Hustler's War Cry. Look out for it.

The Editor wishes me to say that he would be glad to receive any little report about "things" that happen during War Cry selling. Many interesting tidbits could be written up every week in that line.

Shining Lights.

"Let your light so shine before men that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in Heaven." —Matthew, v.16.

These words of Jesus in His Sermon on the Mount seem to contradict other words from the same Divine lips, in denouncing the Pharisees, for making a show of their religion, and praying in public places, but Jesus cannot make any mistake. In commanding the disciples to let their light shine that their Father in Heaven might be glorified, Jesus only asked them to let that light shine which was the glorious spiritual life given them from above.

We meet people at the present time who say it is not necessary to be so public about our profession, at the same time suggesting that it is like the Pharisee, and quoting the Word of God in passages, as: "But all their works they do to be seen of men." They know that the devil is an old hand at quoting and perverting the scriptures. Jesus denounced the Pharisees for making their profession merely an outward show, a hypocritical religion, honoring God with their lips, and their hearts far away from Him, appearing very nice to the world, but inwardly being Rotteness and Decot.

Now Jesus said: "Ye are the light of the world; a city that is set on a hill cannot be hid." If we are to be the light of the world, and if God Who commanded the light to shine out of darkness, hath shined into our hearts, our light will be like the city that is set on a hill, it cannot be hid from the world.

"Neither do men light a candle and put it under a bushel, but on a candlestick, and it giveth light to all that are in the house."

Jesus bids us shine with a clear, pure light.
Like a little candle burning in the night.

In this world of sorrow, so we must shine—
You in your small corner and I in mine.

Paul said to the Corinthians: "But if our Gospel be hid, it is hid to them that are lost."

So if we cover and hide our religion, we are hiding it from those for whom Christ died. Now is the world to learn to know Christ is not by the testimony of those who know Him?

The gods of this world have so blinded the eyes of them which believe not, lest the light of the glorious Gospel of Christ should shine into their hearts, that it can only be contracted by the God of heaven and earth.

The worldling often trying the gods of this world and finding they do not satisfy, well, in the end,

Look for Some thing Higher.

I say to every follower of our Lord and Master, Take His command and let your light shine by your dress, word, and deed; in love, joy, peace, long-suffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, and temperance, that the world may see your consistent lives, and they, with us, will be forced to praise our Father in Heaven.

Let me once more state clearly that only he can let his light shine who has received light by the aid of God's Spirit. The man who is a consistent follower of God in this world lives in darkness; they are without the Divine light. It is not the light of our morality or good name that God wants, but the light which He has promised to impart to us. Men who see our good works are to praise, not us, but our Father Which is in Heaven.

Then we need not hide our lives, because we are full of praise for what God has given us.

When discouraged or despairing do not brood over your defeat, but trusting in God, pluck a victory from it.

Home for the Siege

SELECTED BY ADJT. COOMBS.

Adjutant Coombs is one of the oldest officers on the Canadian field, having spent nearly fifteen years at the front fighting the battles of Jehovah. The Adjutant has held a great many important commands leading on to great triumphs some of our largest corps.

For the past eight years, Adj. Coombs has held the post of Divisional Officer, and has been in charge of the following Districts: Peterboro, St. John, Halifax, Yarmouth, Montreal, Brantford and Chatham. He now commands the latter District with the Windsor corps as its centre. Seeing the Adjutant is well known as a musician and soloist, his selection of songs will be much appreciated.

Holiness.

Tune.—To me, dear Saviour (B.J. 134).

1 To me, dear Saviour, yes, to me
Speak out Thy utmost will,
What Thy great love hath bid me do,
I surely can fulfil.

Chorus.

There is not in my heart left one treasure,
One dear thought, one dear desire,
That I would not yield gladly to Thee;
Only let, in Thy mercy, Thy pleadings
Be heard,
They shall gladly be answered by me.

To me, dear Saviour, yes, to me
Thy gracious pardon show;
That not one sin I've ever sinned
May unforgiven go.

To me, dear Saviour, yes, to me
The floodgates open wide,
That even I may stoop, and wash
Within the crimson tide.

To me, dear Saviour, yes, to me
The heart of all,
With all my consciousness of guilt,
Thou hast for me a call.

To me, dear Saviour, yes, to me
Thy saving power be glist,
Then shall I know why I have lived,
And what on earth is heaven.

Consecration.

Tune.—Holly (B.J. 237); It was on the cross (B.J. 17).

2 When I survey the wondrous cross,
On which the Prince of glory died,
My richest gain I count but loss,
And poor contempt on all my pride.

Forbid it, Lord, that I should boast,
Save in the death of Christ, my God;
All the vain things that charm my most,
I sacrifice them to His blood.

See, from His head, His hands, His feet,
Sorrow and love mingled down;
Did e'er such love and sorrow meet,
Or thorns compose so rich a crown?

Were the whole realm of nature mine,
That were a present far too small;
Love so amazing, so divine,
Shall have my soul, my life, my all!

War and Experience.

Tunes.—I'd choose to be a soldier (B.J. 125); From Greenland's ice mountains (B.J. 278).

3 I'd choose to be a soldier.
To march through storm or flood,
Each day by grace made bolder,
To conquer through the blood.

My highest, sweetest pleasure,
For Christ my Lord to live;
I scorn the greatest treasure
This dying world can give.

Chorus.

I'm glad I am a soldier,
And battling on for God;
Each day by grace made bolder,
To conquer through the blood.

I'd rather be Christ's soldier,
And share a martyr's fate,
Than be a titled holder
Of some proud lord's estate;
I'd rather have salvation,
And bear the world's world's frown,
Than rule the greatest nation,
And wear an earthly crown.

I'd choose to die a soldier,
Upon life's battlefield,
My stiffening hands grown colder,
While grasping sword and shield;
With joyful acclamation,
I'd cry: "God's kingdom's here,"
And shout aloud "Salvation!"
A conqueror through the blood.

An Old Favorite

Tune.—Oh, joyful sound (B.J. 118).

4 My soul is now united to Christ,
Living Vine,
His grace I long have slighted, but Now I feel Him mine;
I was to God a stranger, till Jesus took Me in,
He freed my soul from danger, and pardoned all my sin.

Soon as my soul I ventured on the aton-
ing blood,
The Holy Spirit entered, and I was born
Of God;
My sins are all forgiven, I feel His blood
Applied,
And I shall go to heaven if I in Christ Abide.

By floods and flames surrounded, I still
My way pursue,
Nor shall I be confounded with glory in my view,
Still Christ is my salvation—what can I covet more?
I fear no condemnation, my Father's wrath is o'er.

Eternity.

Tunes.—Oh, Calvary (B.J. 28); Eden (B.J. 235).

5 While life prolongs its precious light,
Mercy is found and peace is given;
But soon, oh, soon the coming night
Shall blot out every hope of heaven.

Chorus.

Eternity—
Where will you spend eternity?

While God invites, how best 't' say,
How sweet the Gospel's earning sound;
Come, sinner, haste, oh, haste away,
While yet a pard'ning God is found.

Soon borne on time's most rapid wing,
Shall death condemn you to the grave;
Before God's bar your spirits bring,
And none be found to hear or save.

In that dark land of deep despair,
No meridian's cheering light shall rise,
No God regard your latter prayer,
No Saviour call you to the skies.

Salvation.

Tune.—The blast of the trumpet (B.J. 20).

6 The blast of the trumpet, so loud
and so shrill,
Will shortly re-echo o'er ocean and hill.

Chorus.

When the mighty, mighty, mighty
trump sounds,
"Come, come away!"
Oh, may we be ready to hail that glad day.

The shouts of the angels will burst from
the skies,
And blend with the shouts of the saints
as they rise.

The cry of the lost ones, their arms
of despair,
And loud "Hallelujahs" will meet in the air.

The cry of the bridegroom shall echo around,
And the bride in her beauty go forth
at the sound.

Acknowledged by Jesus, confessed as
His own,
Transported to Glory, we'll sit on His throne.

Oh, land of the holy, the happy and free,
In Jesus thy portals are open to me.

The Beautiful Forever.

SOLO.

7 Beyond the silent river, in the Glory
Summerland,
In the Beautiful Forever, where
sainted comrades stand,
Where ever blooming flowers send forth
their sweet perfume,
My heart's most loved and cherished, in heavenly beauty bloom.

Chorus.

Oh, the joy that there awaits me,
When I reach the golden shore,
And clasp the hands of loved ones,
To part with them no more.

And when I cross the river, the first I will adore,
The first to bid me welcome upon the golden shore.

Will be my loving Saviour, the One
Who died for me,
That in the long forever from sin I might be free.

The next that there will greet me, in the mansions fair and bright,
Will be my sainted mother, arrayed in garments white,
And then my grey-haired father, close
pressing by her side,
They will grasp my hand with fervor,
Just o'er the rolling tide.

Then curly-headed brother, and little baby dear,
And bright-eyed little sister, with merry
laugh and cheer;
They all will gather round me, and bid
me welcome home,
And wait, with me, the gathering of loved ones yet to come.
